

How are we doing?

Customer service

Excellent

Poor

Has a vendor ever asked you to fill out a comment card? Did you know that a few well-meaning words on a comment card could lead to an improper endorsement and may even appear on that vendor's website along with your name, agency, or official position? Find out about the laws regarding official endorsements and other ethical situations from your agency's ethics office.